Let’s Get Together On Earth Before Taking Off On The Road To Heaven 2015-01-23

many people on earth look forward to their eventual time in heaven they speak of heaven as a lofty perfect place where they will be surrounded by love and humanity turned divine however these same people seem to shrink from human contact while on earth they miss the opportunity to connect with their brethren looking to the sky as they walk the ground poet Al Hall looks forward to heaven but through his inspired words he hopes to reveal the interconnectedness of human life on this planet and how best to utilize our limited time here he encourages us to cherish togetherness during this short period of time on earth before taking off on the road to heaven it’s time to slow down and take a look around preparing for heaven but not living there already true nothing on earth is perfect politicians make vocal blunders humans get irritated and angry at each other over nothing more than miscommunication or perhaps a wrong note in church choir it’s time we stopped pulling each other down and lifted each other heavenward instead enjoy worship laughter celebration and falling in love heaven will one day be home but for now hall encourages us to live imperfectly but with joy and forgiveness

A History of Moonville, Ohio and a Collection of Its

a history of moonville ohio and a collection of its haunting tales revised edition is an updated version of a previous work the author had published back in 2008 this revised edition contains more detailed history about moonville and its surrounding towns such as zaleski on how they came to be most notably that moonville was named by the railroad after a general store proprietor rather than the man who had actually founded the town and that zaleski was named after a polish french financier who never came to america to see his namesake town this revised edition also contains more haunting tales of what had happened to some of those who had lived and worked in this remote mining town in eastern vinton county ohio mainly covering those who had been involved in train accidents surrounding the still standing tunnel as these trains came barreling through the area plus there are a few tales of murder as well there are also a few light hearted tales most notably that of a well known english author who had passed through moonville on his way to tour america back in the late 1860s as well as a story about some feisty sisters in athens who took on the expanding railroad there are human interest elements in all of this most notably to me is the story of the dexters who had been enslaved in virginia escaping in the 1860s having made their way to moonville in order to live out their lives in freedom this book is about preserving the history of a mining town that began back in the 1850s thriving for nearly fifty years before it began its long slide into history though not completely forgotten for it had been once a vital part of ohios history especially in the days leading up to the american civil war and that is why i wrote and revised this work for moonvilles history is a part of ohios history structuring sense explores the difference between words however defined and structures however constructed it sets out to demonstrate over three volumes that the explanation of linguistic competence should be shifted from lexical entry to syntactic structure from memory of words to manipulation of rules its reformulation of how grammar and lexicon interact has profound implications for linguistic philosophical and psychological theories about human mind and language hagit borer departs from language specific constructional approaches and from lexicalist approaches to argue that universal hierarchical structures determine interpretation and that language variation emerges from the morphological and phonological properties of inflectional material taking form the third and final volume of structuring sense applies this radical approach to the construction of complex words integrating research in syntax and morphology the author develops a new model of word formation arguing that on the one hand the basic building blocks of language are rigid semantic and syntactic functions while on the other hand they are roots which in themselves are but packets of phonological information and are devoid of both meaning and grammatical properties of any kind within such a model syntactic category syntactic selection and argument structure are all mediated through syntactic structures projected from rigid functions or alternatively constructed through general combinatorial principles of syntax such as chomsky's merge the meaning of words in turn does not involve the existence of lexemes but rather the matching of a well defined and phonologically articulated syntactic domain with conceptual content itself outside the domain of language as such in a departure from most current models of syntax but in line with many philosophical traditions then the exo skeletal model partitions meaning into formal functions on the one hand and content on the other hand while the former are read off syntactico semantic structures as is usually assumed content is crucially read off syntactico phonological structures
