This is ofsted’s final report as from April 2007 a new organisation was established called the office for standards in education children’s services and skills, which will also be known as Ofsted. This new body brings together the work of the adult learning inspectorate, the children’s services responsibilities of the commission for social care inspection and the inspection functions of the children and family court advisory and support service from Her Majesty’s inspectorate of court administration with the work of the old Ofsted. Excess votes 2006-07. Seventh report of session 2007-08 report together with formal minutes. The Department of Health, the Department, and the NHS achieved a surplus of 515 million in 2006-07, representing 0.6 per cent of total available resources. This followed two years of rising deficits and the Department working with the NHS has done well in restoring overall financial balance. While the national picture is one of financial surplus, there remain variations in financial performance. The surplus is concentrated in strategic health authorities, whilst overall primary care trusts and NHS trusts remain in deficit. Of the 372 NHS organisations, 82 recorded a deficit of 917 million, with 80 per cent of this being reported by just 10 per cent of NHS organisations. There are also regional variations with the East of England Strategic Health Authority area having a deficit of 153 million and the North West achieving a 189 million surplus. Financial recovery is therefore inconsistent and more needs to be done so that all parts of the NHS achieve financial balance. The committee concludes that the return to financial balance is the result of the Department’s tighter performance management of NHS finances in the way funding flowed through the NHS together with a programme of support for local organisations with particular financial difficulties. In the short term, this largely centralist approach was appropriate for the future if the NHS is to remain in financial balance. More health organisations locally need to improve their financial management. Failure to keep a tight grip on financial performance will undermine health care for patients.

This report is the committee’s annual review of how the FCO is managing its resources this year. A key area of interest has been the 2007 comprehensive spending review because the committee thinks it is one of the tightest in Whitehall and it risks jeopardising some of the FCO’s important work. Apart from this, the other subjects covered are measuring performance, operational efficiency management and leadership, FCO services, diplomatic representation overseas, transparency and openness, public diplomacy, British Council, BBC World Service.

Ministry of Defence annual report and accounts 2006-07 2008-01-28

This report analyses the annual report and accounts 2006-07 of the Ministry of Defence (MOD) published as HC 697 Session 2006-07 ISBN 9780102946369. The MOD’s assessment of its expected achievements against its six public service agreement (PSA) targets, which run until the end of March 2008, has deteriorated since the previous year’s annual report and accounts. At the end of 2007, the MOD did not expect to meet the targets relating to generating forces and expects only partly to meet targets relating to recruitment and retention and defence equipment procurement. The failure to meet the target for generating forces is a consequence of the continuing high levels of deployment of the armed forces. The committee is concerned that the armed forces have been operating at or above the level of concurrent operations they are resourced and structured to deliver for seven of the last eight years and for every year since 2002 achieving manning balance in all three service continues to be a challenge shortages remain within many specialist trades in all three armed services but especially in the army medical service the report notes the failure to meet harmony guidelines in the army and the royal air force another indicator of the pressure on the armed forces from the continuing high level of operations and another target missed by all three services is for ethnic minority recruitment the mod continues to experience substantial forecast cost increases on equipment programmes and the report notes delays in delivering equipment programmes to the planned in service dates the mod faces difficult choices in the face of expected cuts in the defence programme and the management of a streamlining exercise to reduce civilian posts in the headquarters

this is the first annual scrutiny by the treasury committee of the chancellor of exchequer s departments the committee sets out a number of conclusions and recommendations including that the treasury should include within its annual reports a summary of the results of the annual surveys of stakeholder opinion and the treasury's response to stakeholders the committee recommends that the treasury set itself a target to ensure that the public service agreements finalised as part of the next spending review in 2009 or 2010 include a clear statement about the resources to be allocated across government to the delivery of each agreement the committee criticises the treasury's failure to meet its objective for the appointment of professionally qualified finance directors in all departments by December 2006 and that a relevant accountancy qualification be described as an essential criterion in all future post advertisements. The committee views the value for money delivery agreements across government as disappointing and wants the government to develop programmes that measure quality of service and efficiency effectively. The committee commends the Royal Mint's return to profitability but is concerned about the ambitious target set for next year that the Office of Government Commerce has failed to publish a regular annual report. The committee expresses surprise that HM Revenue and Customs had approved a 60% increase in senior civil service bonus payments over a period of poor performance and headcount reductions. Also, the committee highlights the problems experienced in VAT registrations and the failure of HMRC to meet its processing target of VAT receipts as well as poor administration of tax credits.

since 1950 the south has undergone the most dramatic political transformation of any region in the united states the once solid meaning democratic south is now overwhelmingly republican and long disenfranchised African Americans vote at levels comparable to those of whites in the rational southerner m v hood iii quentin kidd and irwin l morris argue that local strategic dynamics played a decisive and underappreciated role in both the development of the southern republican party and the mobilization of the region's black electorate. Mobilized blacks who supported the democratic party made it increasingly difficult for conservative whites to maintain control of the party's machinery. Also, as local Republican party organizations became politically viable, the strategic opportunities that such a change provided made the GOP an increasingly attractive alternative for white conservatives. Blacks also found new opportunities within the Democratic party as whites fled to the GOP, especially in the Deep South where large black populations had the potential to dominate state and local Democratic parties. As a result, Republican party viability also led to black mobilization using the theory of relative advantage. Hood, Kidd, and Morris provide a new perspective on party system transformation following a theoretically informed description of recent partisan dynamics in the South. They demonstrate with decades of state-level sub-state and individual level data that GOP organizational strength and black electoral mobilization were the primary determinants of political change in the region. The authors' finding that race was and still is the primary driver behind political change in the region stands in stark contrast to recent scholarship which points to inmigration, economic growth, or religious factors as the locus of transition. The rational southerner contributes not only to the study of Southern politics but to our understanding of party system change, racial politics, and the role that state and local political dynamics play in the larger context of national politics and policymaking.
