famous true crime author Ann Rule referred to Marcia's disappearance as probably the strangest case I have ever written about. One day there may be answers after years of painstaking research. This book reveals those answers about a case as multifaceted and intriguing as the woman who perished so tragically. This is the story of a bold woman raised well to do and just a stone's throw from Walden Pond who took the road less traveled and paid for it with her life.

This volume brings together diverse cross disciplinary scholarly voices to examine gender construction in children's and young adult literature. It complements and updates the scholarship in the field by creating a rich cohesive examination of core questions around gender and sexuality in classic and contemporary texts. By providing an expansive treatment of gender and sexuality across genres, eras, and national literature, the collection explores how readers encounter unorthodox as well as traditional notions of gender. It begins with essays exploring how children's and YA literature construct communities formed by gender, ethnicity, sexuality, and in face-to-face and virtual spaces. Section II's central focus is how gendered identities are formed, unpacking how texts for young readers ranging from Amish youth periodicals to the blockbuster Divergent series trace, reproduce, and shape gendered identity socialization. In section III, the essential literary function of translating trauma into narrative is addressed in classics like Anne of Green Gables and Pollyanna as well as more recent works. Section IV's focus on sexuality and romance encompasses fiction.
and nonfiction works examining how children's and young adult literature can serve as a regressive progressive and transgressive site for construction meaning about sex and romance last section iv offers new readings of paratextual features in literature for children from the classic tale of Cinderella to contemporary illustrated novels the key achievement of this volume is providing an updated range of multidisciplinary and methodologically diverse analyses of critically and commercially successful texts contributing to the scholarship on children's and ya literature gender sexuality and women's studies and a range of other disciplines anna deavere smith the award winning playwright and actor has spent a lifetime listening really listening to the people around her as a child in the segregated baltimore of the early 1960s smith absorbed the words of her parents teachers neighbors even train conductors and realized that there was something more being communicated than the actual words the conductor s voice had a mild kind of grandeur that was a cousin to the vocal tones i had heard at funerals ashes to ashes and at christenings and weddings these are words that have been said many times but the person who speaks them understands that each time it must be said as if it matters because it does matter we never know what lies ahead and we never know what just happened and all words must house respect of those two unknowns in talk to me smith looks back at a singular career as a seeker and interpreter of language in america revealing the methodology behind her extraordinary search for the truth and nuances of verbal communication for thirty years the defining thesis of smith's work has been that how we speak is just as important in communicating truth and identity as what we say everything from individual vocal tone to grammar smith demonstrates can be as identifiable and revealing as a fingerprint her journey has taken her from the rarefied bastions of academia to riot torn streets she has conducted hundreds of interviews with subjects ranging from women prisoners to presidents of the united states in 1995 her ongoing investigation led her to washington d c after all what better place to wage an inquiry into the power of language and the language of power than in the city where message is a manufactured product what happens when we as citizens accept which we seem to be doing more and more our chosen leaders failure to tell the truth and how can we know that we are hearing what washington really has to say when everything we receive is filtered through the media armed with a blazing intellect and a tape recorder smith tackled these questions head on conducting more than four hundred interviews with people both inside and outside the power structure of washington she recorded these sessions in her trademark verbatim transcripts which include every tic and verbal utterance of her subjects more than thirty of these remarkable documents appear in this book including interviews with bill clinton anita hill studs terkel george bush mike mccurry and helen thomas after five years of searing investigation into the world of the politicians spin doctors and power brokers who are steering the course of our country from inside the beltway smith has come away with a revelatory assessment by turns devastating and hopeful of the lexicon of power and politics in America talk to me is a landmark contribution from a woman whose pioneering insights into language speak volumes.
