an introduction to collectible ford and fordson farm tractors that includes detailed captions rare archival images and classic brochures for dozens of vintage machines
The tractor—a self-propelled machine powered by an internal combustion engine and designed to pull, carry, or drive other implements—machines and vehicles used in agriculture is an essential part of modern farming. A vintage tractor is one that was on the market before 1952. By 1910, ten thousand tractors were at work in North America, but in Britain, fewer than fifty. However, they steadily gained ground, and few farmers persisted with other methods after the Second World War. This book tells the fascinating story of the development of the tractor, particularly in Britain, and illustrates many examples about the author. The late Charles L. Cawood farmed 200 acres of grass and arable land on the Yorkshire Wolds. He made an intensive study of the development of farm tractors and possessed a large collection of tractor literature. This reprint has been updated by Nick Baldwin, who is currently working on an A-Z of world tractors for Tractors and Machinery magazine, published by Kelsey Publishing.

From Ram Dass, one of America's most beloved spiritual figures and bestselling author of Be Here Now and Be Love Now, comes this timeless classic about the experience of being and the risks and rewards of our spiritual path. Originally published in 1976, Grist for the Mill offers a deep spiritual journey of self-discovery and a universal understanding of what it means to be and to grow as human beings. The book is fully revised with a new introduction as Ram Dass puts it when the faith is strong enough, it is sufficient just to be. It's a journey towards simplicity, towards quietness, towards a kind of joy that is not in time. It's a journey that has taken us from primary identification with our body and our psyche to an identification with God and ultimately beyond identification.

The age of the traction engine is now past but these romantic leviathans of road and field excite great interest not only among those who remember them in their heyday but also those brought up in the age of the lorry and tractor. Malcolm Ranieri, who has been photographing preserved steam for over twenty years, has assembled this classic selection of photographs of the best of British traction engines, rollers, steam wagons, and more, photographed at work and at rest at locations all over the United Kingdom. All the major manufacturers, with famous names like Fowler, Burrell, and Aveling Porter, are represented.
